

Young Bill Walker and Ken Brown hold fish while Joe Brown has another shot with his spear.

Waiting for the haul, Bob and Diane Walker play with their dog "Peter."

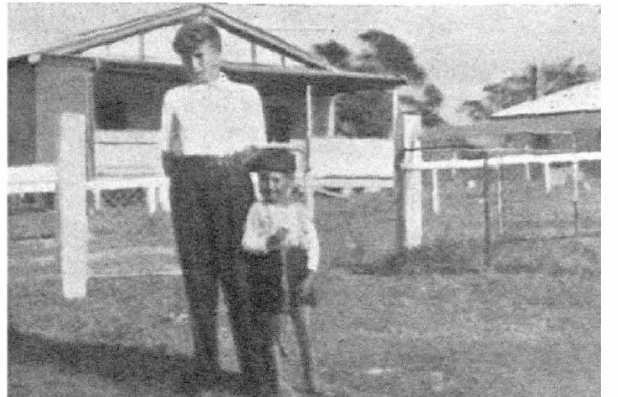

Mending the nets is an important job and Cec. Carter is an expert at it.

When the seas are running high, old Jimmy Campbell gives a hand with the hauling ropes.

Everyone, even the dog, lends a hand (or a paw) when the haul is made.

Alec. Walker and young brother, Bob, prepare to watch the fishermen at work.
