BURRA-BEE-DEE MUSICIANS

Talented Young Pianists

One of the highlights of the recent visit of Mr. Lipscomb to Burra-bee-dee Aboriginal Station was the happy hour he spent at the School.

The teacher-in-charge, Miss Kinnear, reminded the children of the previous interesting talks the Superintendent had given them, and pointed out, that, in the past, Mr. Lipscomb had done the talking, and they had always listened. On this occasion, she said, "We want Mr. Lipscomb to do the listening and we will entertain him." Thereupon, three of the girls, Maureen Cain, Helen Griffiths and Rose Watton, all aged about 10 or 11 years, in turn played two or three of their musical pieces in a proficient and delightful manner.

These little girls are taking pianoforte lessons from Miss Kinnear, who is generously giving them several hours of her time after school each day. Miss Kinnear said the girls are very enthusiastic, are practising hard every day, and all hope, eventually, to be good musicians, and readers of Dawn join in wishing them success.

Mr. Lipscomb's happy hour with the children was brought to a close by their rendering in part singing of the popular Old English ballad, "Mowing the Barley."
