

Students and advisers at Women's College

SEMINAR FOR H.S.C STUDENTS

Seven girls and eight boys, all of whom are in 6th form in 1972 and hold Commonwealth Aboriginal Secondary Grants, arrived in Sydney on 27th and 28th August, to take part in a programme of visits and discussions to help them to make decisions about their future careers after leaving school.

They came from High Schools at Ingleburn, Green Valley, Greystanes, Punchbowl, Maitland, Cowra, Wellington, Dubbo, Nyngan, Walgett, Milton, Armidale, Tumut, and Griffith.

The fifteen students lived in at two of the residential colleges on the campus of the University of Sydney, Women's College and St John's College.

During the programme, the students met people concerned with the Aboriginal Study Grants Scheme and with placement in employment so that they were able to learn about financial assistance for further study, and also about the types of employment available to them.

The students visited the University of Sydney and the University of New South Wales and gained some impressions of what a university is like.

An important and interesting visit was made to the Careers Reference Centre, near Central

Neil and Barry Thorne (Walgett) and Bob Smith who works at The Commonwealth Employment Office, Burwood

Sue Bulger (Tumut) and Hyllus Mathews (Lethbridge Park)